THE VOOZ BATTERY

The VOOZ is truly next generation design employing a unique VPod producing smooth hits with superior flavor production. Our design is unique and simple using gravity to feed oil via four holes through the preheating plate, metering the delivery to a larger surface area of the coil, allowing for clean natural vapor production. Air is drawn across the increased surface area delivering a smooth, robust, flavorful hit. Our natural flavor production allows for oil formulations with less flavonoids (terpenes) producing oil in a healthier range while achieving best in market flavor production.

New Technology vPod Vapor Delivery System™ (VDS)

- Superior flavor production requires less terpenes delivering healthier experience
- Nano-tech ceramic coil with increased surface area, integrated preheater and improved airflow for optimal vapor and flavor production.
- Unique “J” shaped air pathway eliminates oil spit-back and leaking
- 0.5ml VPod Capacity delivering approximately 80 puffs per pod.
- 1.0ml / 0.5ml vPod ready for release in May 2019
- Handles all viscosity oil types IE: THC/CBD & Nicotine based oil.
- Magnetic base allows for easy swapping of VPods
- Long lasting large capacity battery with magnetic charging cable
- Sleek rugged design made of solid protective aluminum alloy shield available in Silver, Black or Rose colors.
- Economically priced to meet today's market demands quality vs price

DELTA 8

DELTA 8 EXPLAINED

Delta-8 can be psychoactive for some consumers, just less so than delta-9. A good way to think about it generally is something like the “Weed Light”: many of the effects and benefits of delta-9, though toned down a few steps. It is still euphoric and stimulates appetite. It can energize or relax the consumer depending on the larger terpene and cannabinoid profile, similar to delta-9. And yes, it can induce some of the typical heady, psychoactive experience.

The main difference is that while delta-8 can do all of these things, it does them with less intensity. Even for experienced cannabis users, there is a noticeable effect, albeit a less intense one. However, the trade-off here is that the potential negative side effects of cannabis are also reduced. Delta-8 tends to be less racy, as mentioned, but what happens aside from the high?

These effects have yet to be studied at length, but user-experience shows promising signs. The compound is even known to the National Cancer Institute, which notes that it has, “antiemetic, anxiolytic, appetite-stimulating, analgesic, and neuroprotective qualities.” Delta Effex describes delta-8 THC as “sort of a middle ground between hemp, CBD and THC-delta-9,” and that seems to be as perfect a description as we’ve encountered.
